A native of the United Kingdom, Mark Chimes has played a variety of video games since the age of four. His early fascination with games began after playing The Oregon Trail on a family vacation to the United States. He has reviewed thousands of games for major and minor gaming websites. Mark is the founding father of GameTrailers.com. He is also a co-host of the podcast, Platform Nation, along with John G. Beddard, Matthew Robinson and Jeff Cannata. In addition to his writing on games, Mark has appeared in a variety of media, including credits on shows such as the USA Network's Burn Notice, Netflix's award-winning 13 Reasons Why and in a cameo appearance on Chuck. He has also worked with many major movie studios as a script doctor.

During the course of his career, Mark has become a prominent figure in the video game industry, serving as a judge at many major gaming competitions. When not playing or reviewing games, he can usually be found playing with his friends, attending comedy shows, or playing video games with his wife and kids. Mark Chimes's score on 2011's Millionaire Party Edition ranges from a 7.25 to a 7.375. Preference will be given to persons born in the UK, Ireland and EU member states. Please note that this is not an exhaustive list and we are open to any suggestions! The ability to choose your character has not been balanced as intended, there should be a reason for the choices people are making. You cannot earn double-up tokens with the 2 for 1 Club card until you get the Powerball bonus. You can always get free spins with the Play for free chip. You can lose money by missing out on the second series of the day when multiple jackpots are due. The order of the Fills from left to right and right to left is random. The maximum win/loss is limited, resulting in those players with a higher win percentage losing more money than they would have in a fair game. There is no change to the jackpot when completing the jackpot progress bars. Clicking the 'Pick' button does not mean that the player's selection is the jackpot. The progressive jackpot is not always displayed on the juego live, but instead shows the highest progressive win. The 'Saved' button should also be labelled 'restore' rather than 'save'.
